It has given money to the richrags to the poor, It has mortgaged every young man n the country to pay a debt the young men never created. It robs the poor, who labor to support the rich who toil not, but who are like princes every day. It taxes the soldiers who fought to save the Union, and exempt the speculator who turned the blood of patri otism into wealth for his private pockets. It makes the negroes more than the qual of the white foreigner who mes here, and compels the white men who come here to:escape oppresion, to support the negro in idleness. It entices poor men here from other countries under the plea of promise of equal taxation and escapement from an aristocracy, and then forces them to pay more than their share of taxes, and support a more infamous aristocracy than ever was created in any country before. It any one can point to a blessing the Republican party has brought to us, we wish to know what it is, and will give full credit. Who can in-
